

Join us for our Autism Awareness Month Webinars!

In celebration of Autism Awareness month, the Autism NOW Center will be offering two brand new webinars! As the National Autism Resource & Information Center, we work year round to promote awareness and educate the public about key issues that affect individuals with autism and their families. Join us for our upcoming webinars in April as we focus on emergency preparedness and transportation!

Preparing for Fires and Other Emergencies

Time: Tuesday, April 2, 2013, from 2:00 to 3:30 PM EST

This webinar will bring together experts from organizations that focus on emergency preparedness and safety planning for individuals with autism and other developmental disabilities. Speakers from the National Fire Protection Association and Autism ALERT will provide an overview of their work and share useful information, tools and resources for individuals and families. Topics covered will include fire safety, trainings for first responders and caregivers, search and rescue protocols, safety plans and more! Register today!

Speakers:

Lisa Braxton, National Fire Protection Association
Chris Lacy, Autism ALERT, Inc.

The Autism NOW Center is a project funded by the Administration on Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities and a national initiative of The Arc. The Center gathers, organizes, and disseminates readily accessible, high-quality resources and information related to community-based services that support independent living and self-determination, treatment protocols that promote community-based experiences, and evidence-based interventions. As part of this mission, The Autism NOW Center hosts free quarterly webinars on selected Tuesday from 2:00 to 3:30 pm (EST). Designed for self-advocates, families, professionals, and the general public, these webinars encompass a wide variety of topics and practices in the area of autism spectrum disorders (ASD) and other developmental disabilities. For any further questions regarding these webinars, for more information on The Autism NOW Center, or for technical assistance, please contact Phuong Nguyen at pnguyen@autismnow.org.
