Training Description

This training is designed for any school personnel who work with students with Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD), Asperger's syndrome, and other Pervasive Developmental Disorders in the general education environment. An overview of the characteristics of ASD and research-based methods will be presented. Practical strategies will be discussed that successfully address the needs of the student with ASD, as well as other students with diverse learning styles.

Each participant will receive a training manual and certificate of training with 6 CEU hours.

Responses from previous attendees:

"I learned more than I expected!"

"Best notebook of materials on the topic that I have seen. Also appreciated the freebies!"

"This was an outstanding workshop! It needs to be multiple days."

"The binder is a wonderful tool!"

"The presentation was very well done. It provided a lot of info in a short period of time. I got some great ideas that I can take with me."

Learning Objectives

Participants will:

- Gain an understanding of the core features of Autism Spectrum Disorders.
- Identify the challenges associated with ASD and how these present in the general education classroom.
- Understand the concept of visual supports and how these can be easily embedded into the classroom structure.
- Learn the benefits of incorporating positive behavioral supports for individual students or classroom-wide management.
- Understand how the strategies and information learned not only benefits the student with an ASD but other general education students as well.
- Learn ways to implement a social skills curriculum within the framework of the classroom and school setting to increase social understanding and skills for students with an ASD.
- Develop an understanding of how to incorporate the talents, interests, and skills of students with Asperger's into curriculum planning and modification within the classroom and school setting.
- Learn how the Universal Design for Learners (UDL) aligns with the Common Core to make the curriculum accessible to everyone.

The Achievement Centers for Children is a 75 year old nonprofit agency that families call a source of hope, a place of achievement and a center of support and expertise for children with special needs.

Our unique, comprehensive service model weaves together custom-designed therapy, education, recreation and family support services to meet the needs of the entire family

At the Achievement Centers for Children, we believe that most children with autism would be able to receive quality education and treatment while remaining in their home school districts if added supports, knowledge and tools were made available.

Achieve Consulting addresses this need by offering services, trainings and workshops to assist school districts in providing appropriate—and ultimately exemplary—education for students with autism.

Our highly trained and knowledgeable staff is educated and experienced in a wide variety of nationally-recognized treatment methods for the education and treatment of children with autism.
